

Unit 7 – Reflection:

Throughout this week's studies, I was particularly engrossed in the literature review assignment. This task involved conducting research and required me to reflect deeply on my chosen topic and its broader implications. I see this as a valuable opportunity to strengthen my expertise in research methodologies, which will undoubtedly prepare me for my upcoming final capstone project.

Another topic that concerns me is the Inferential Statistics Workshop Seminar, which I am still behind on. However, I am confident that I will focus on the remaining activities when I submit my assignment, and I want to reiterate my commitment to catching up on the missed activities.